The Passing of Dick Hummel

As you may have heard, our dear friend and landlord, Dick Hummel died on January 31st, he was 86 years old. While his health was not good, it suddenly changed for the worse and it was Dick's choice not to do anything about it. He will be truly missed!

Dick was our biggest supporter, and we were proud to be part of the land that he so cherished. His passing leaves a huge gap in the WORKS Club. For over twenty-two years we have appreciated the reciprocal relationship with Dick on the use of the flying field and our promise to maintain his property to his standards. We have endeavored to never disappoint him and to act quickly upon any of his requests.

You may be interested to know that our relationship began with a simple knock at his door. In 2003 we were looking for a new home for the Club and Dick's property was suggested to us. Initially the fact that the property was a bona-fide, full-size registered airport caused concerns that our request would be denied. However, one of our Board members simply knocked on his door and his welcoming personality made us the new tenant of the Hummel Airport after working out the details. An arrangement was made so that fully-size airplanes could still use the field, and a process was established so that our flyers would make an immediate way for them. This has been working for the last twenty-two years at the Hummel/WORKS Field.

We have had initial contact with Andrew Hummel and will soon meet with him to begin a new landlord relationship with hopes to discuss a longer term.

It was Dick's wishes to have no services or celebration of life so we'll keep everyone informed if those change.
